UNCONTESTED DIVORCE OR LEGAL SEPARATION

How much does it cost?

There are two separate parts to the total cost – the attorney fee and the court filing fee.

How much is the attorney fee?

For a flat fee of $495, Mr. Hogan will not only prepare all the legal documents but he will also file everything with the court. Then all you and your spouse need to do is sign the legal documents.

How much are the court filing fees?

The filing fees charged by the court are $344.

When are these amounts due?

The legal documents will be prepared for your signature after the $495 is received. Then later, after you and your spouse have both signed, the $344 court filing fee is needed when the legal documents are filed with the court.

Will you finish preparing the legal documents before the $495 is paid?

No. The legal documents will be ready for your signature after the $495 is received. We accept credit cards, personal checks and cash, but we cannot offer personal lines of credit.

What if the legal documents need to be changed?

Of course, any errors made by Mr. Hogan would be corrected without charge. But if you provide incorrect information (such as a misspelled name) or if you change your mind after the documents are all finished (such as how the assets are to be divided), then you have two choices:

1. You can pay a $100 revision fee and Mr. Hogan will then change the legal documents to match your new instructions, or
2. You can just leave the legal documents the way you originally requested.

So if my spouse won't sign, do I get my money back?

No. So before you hire any attorney, you should determine whether your spouse will agree with you.

What about getting a refund?

All payments are Mr. Hogan's property immediately upon receipt and will not be placed into a trust account. The fact that you have paid in advance does not affect your right to terminate the client-lawyer relationship. You are entitled to a 100% refund until either 30 days have passed or the legal documents have been completed, whichever comes first. There are no refunds after 30 days or after the legal documents have been completed.

How long until my case will be final?

Divorces take about four months. Legal separations take about one month. Washington state law requires a mandatory minimum 90day "cooling off period" in every divorce case. (Sorry, there are no exceptions).

Will either my spouse or I need to go to court?

No.

Why is the case filed in eastern Washington in Lincoln County?

Filing in Lincoln County costs you less because you don't have to pay for the extra attorney time that would be needed for a court hearing.

How much time do I have to get my spouse to sign the legal documents?

One year. If Mr. Hogan has not received the signed documents back from you in 12 months, then your file will be closed.

Directions:

The following pages will be used to prepare your legal documents, so please fill them out carefully and completely. If you have questions, please call or email Mr. Hogan.

CHILD SUPPORT

58. What if my spouse and I have agreed not to do child support?

The law does not always require that money change hands. But the law does always require that we file documents describing what will happen regarding child support.

Those mandatory documents must include answers to three basic questions:

1. Will child support be a direct transaction between the parents or will it be taken out of the paycheck (like taxes)?
2. Which parent will be the one that has the child support obligation (even if that obligation is to pay zero dollars per month)?
3. How much is the monthly obligation (even if that amount is zero dollars per month)?

So please go on to question 59.

If you get stuck on something or have any questions, then please call Mr. Hogan

59. What are my options regarding the method of payment?

- We want child support to be paid directly from one parent to the other parent without involving the state of Washington.
- We want child support to be automatically deducted by the state of Washington from one parent's paycheck.

60. Which parent will have the child support obligation (even if that obligation is to pay zero dollars per month)?

- I will have the child support obligation because the child(ren) will spend over 50% of the overnights with my spouse based on the schedule chosen in question 72.
- My spouse will have the child support obligation because the child(ren) will spend over 50% of the overnights with me based on the schedule chosen in question 72.
- We will split the child(ren)'s overnights exactly 50/50, but I will have the child support obligation because my income is higher than my spouse's income based on my answers in question 61.
- We will split the child(ren)'s overnights exactly 50/50, but my spouse will have the child support obligation because my spouse's income is higher than my income based on my answers in question 61.

61. Am I required to fill in estimated incomes for both me and my spouse?

Yes.

The bad news is that if you leave this part blank, then Mr. Hogan cannot prepare your court documents.

The good news is that you are not required to provide copies of pay stubs, W-2s, tax returns, etc.

If you sign the court documents confirming that your spouse's income information is accurate, and if your spouse signs the court documents confirming that your income information is accurate, then the court will accept that verification.

For the purpose of calculating child support

My average monthly net income is $

My spouse's average monthly net income is $

62. Should payment for other child-related expenses be added to the monthly child support amount?

- No, nothing should be added. All of the other child-related-expenses listed below should be considered to be included in the monthly child support amount.
- Yes. I have indicated below the percentage of the other child-related expenses that should be paid in addition to the monthly child support amount.

63. CHILD SUPPORT DURING COLLEGE. Do you want your court-ordered child support to continue even after your child(ren) turn 18 and are no longer in high school?

- We want the court-ordered child support to end when they turn 18 and are no longer in high school.
- Maybe. That can be decided later.
- Yes. We want child support to continue until they turn 22 or are no longer in college/vocational school, whichever comes first.

64. What is the amount of the child support obligation?

Please work through the following six steps to determine the amount of the child support obligation in your case.

Step 1. Is the income of the obligated parent less than $1300 per month?

- Yes. Then the standard monthly child support amount will be $50 per month per child. So please skip Steps 2,3 and 4 and go to Step 5 below.
- No. Then please go on to Step 2 below.

Step 2. Calculate the standard amount.

The law requires every child support order in Washington state to include a calculation of the standard amount. Please go to the following Washington state website and enter the same net income information as in question 61 above.

<https://fortress.wa.gov/dshs/dcs/SSGen/Home/QuickEstimator>

Based on our net incomes, the standard amount from the above state website is $

Step 3. Is this standard amount acceptable to you?

- Yes. Then please skip Steps 4, 5 and 6 and go on to question 65.
- No. Then please go on to Step 4 below.

Step 4. Do you want the monthly child support obligation to be MORE THAN the standard amount?

- No. Then please go on to Step 5 below.
- Yes. My spouse and I have agreed on this amount:

Step 5. Do you qualify to have the monthly child support obligation be LESS THAN the standard amount?

The monthly obligation cannot be less than the standard amount just because the parents agree. But the law does allow the lower amount if one of the following are true. Please check the one that applies in your case. (If none of these 7 apply, then you are stuck with the standard amount).

- If on question 72 you choose to split the overnights exactly 50/50, and if your income is between 1% to 10% more than your spouse's income, then you could owe your spouse as little as zero dollars per month.
- If on question 72 you choose to split the overnights exactly 50/50, and if your spouse's income is between 1% to 10% more than your income, then your spouse could owe you as little as zero dollars per month.
- If on question 72 you choose to have the child(ren) 3 overnights per week, and if your income is less than 75% of your spouse's income, then you could owe your spouse as little as zero dollars per month.
- If on question 72 your spouse chooses to have the child(ren) 3 overnights per week, and if your spouse's income is less than 75% of your income, then your spouse could owe you as little as zero dollars per month.
- The child(ren) live outside the U.S. where the cost of living is much lower in the following country:
- The obligated parent is already paying monthly child support for these other child(ren) from other relationships.
Amount Names of children
- The obligated parent already has his/her monthly government benefit paid directly to the residential parent.
Amount Government program

Step 6. If you qualify for reduced child support based on Step 5 above, what amount do you want?

My spouse and I have agreed on this amount:

- $0
- This amount: $

PARENTING PLAN

65. Do the child(ren) now live in Washington state?

- No. Then stop. You are done with this form because Washington state does not have jurisdiction over the child(ren). Please read the directions that are listed just before question 1 about how to save and submit this form.
- Yes. Then please go on to question 66.

66. Designation of "custodial parent" The legal documents allow you to decide which parent will be called the "custodial parent" even though that label has no legal importance under Washington state law.

- I want to be called the "custodial parent".
- My spouse wants to be called the "custodial parent".
- We want to call it "joint custody."

67. Education decisions

Which parent will make the decisions about the child(ren)'s education?

- I will decide.
- My spouse will decide.
- Joint decision-making.

68. Medical decisions

72. Parenting schedule.

The law requires us to file a parenting schedule. But, as parents, you will always have the power to agree to change the basic schedule. The schedule is not a straight-jacket. It is a baseline. It is a default that will apply unless the two of you agree to do something different. So please describe your plan for the child(ren).

- We will split the overnights exactly 50/50. (Then please skip question 73 and go on to question 74.)
- There will be overnight time, but not 50/50. (Then please go on to question 73.)
- There will be in-person time, but no overnights. (Then please go on to question 73.)
- There will be unlimited telephone & video calls, but no in-person time. (Then please stop. You are done with this form.)
- No scheduled contact due to a lack of emotional ties between parent and child(ren). (Then stop. You are done with this form.)

73. Other schedules.

Most of the time the child(ren) will be with me my spouse except as follows:

Beginning Time	Beginning Day	Ending Time	Ending Day	How Often?
<input type="text"/> <input type="radio"/> a.m. . Time <input type="radio"/> p.m.	<input type="text"/> Day	<input type="text"/> <input type="radio"/> a.m. . Time <input type="radio"/> p.m.	<input type="text"/> Day	<input type="radio"/> Every week <input type="radio"/> Every other week <input type="radio"/> As follows: <input type="text"/>
<input type="text"/> <input type="radio"/> a.m. . Time <input type="radio"/> p.m.	<input type="text"/> Day	<input type="text"/> <input type="radio"/> a.m. . Time <input type="radio"/> p.m.	<input type="text"/> Day	<input type="radio"/> Every week <input type="radio"/> Every other week <input type="radio"/> As follows: <input type="text"/>

74. Overnights split exactly 50/50.

A 50/50 schedule means that each 14-day cycle is divided into either 2 or 4 or 6 or 8 segments so that each parent has 7 out of the 14 overnights.

2 segments. A cycle of 7 days on / 7 days off.

The child(ren) will be exchanged once per week on (day) at (time) a.m. p.m.

4 segments. A 14-day cycle divided into 4 parts so that each parent has the child(ren) for 7 overnights.

With mother from (day) at (time) a.m. p.m. until (day) at a.m. p.m.

Then with father until (day) at (time) a.m. p.m.

Then with mother until (day) at (time) a.m. p.m.

Then with father until the beginning of the next 14-day cycle.

6 segments. A 14-day cycle divided into 6 parts so that each parent has the child(ren) for 7 overnights.

With mother from (day) at (time) a.m. p.m. until (day) at a.m. p.m.

Then with father until (day) at (time) a.m. p.m.

Then with mother until (day) at (time) a.m. p.m.

Then with father until (day) at (time) a.m. p.m.

Then with mother until (day) at (time) a.m. p.m.

Then with father until the beginning of the next 14-day cycle.

8 segments. A 14-day cycle divided into 8 parts so that each parent has the child(ren) for 7 overnights.

With mother from (day) at (time) a.m. p.m. until (day) at a.m. p.m.

Then with father until (day) at (time) a.m. p.m.
